Grandma Got Run Over
by a Reindeer...Now What?

Grandma got run over by a reindeer
Sprained her neck and fractured a bone;
Time off work, bills, and pain & suffering
Sadly, it was no fault of her own.

After the Collision

Regardless of the fact that it is the holidays, Grandma gets a phone call from North Pole Insurance Company. She is greeted by an eager little elf asking questions and trying to convince her to settle the case now. Why all this eagerness? The elf is eager to persuade Grandma to settle on much less than she is entitled to. How should one respond to this?

When the Other Driver's Insurance Company Calls

Do not answer any questions. You don't want to risk saying something that could be used against you. Simply let the insurance agent know your attorney will be contacting them in the near future. Then call an attorney!

Consultations are Free

Although holiday shopping has left Grandma a little short on cash, she meets with Attorney Jack Frost. Together, they discuss how she is going to pay her bills while she is not working and how long it might take to get results. Grandma is happy to find out that Frost, like most personal injury attorneys, does not charge for the initial meeting.

Contingency Fee Basis

When meeting with Attorney Frost, Grandma also learns that hiring a personal injury attorney does not necessarily mean paying the attorney up front. In fact, she is pleased to find she is not required to pay attorney fees until she recovers a monetary settlement from North Pole Insurance Company. Grandma is thrilled that there are laws in place to help her get what she is entitled to. She is also very glad she called an attorney.

Seek Advice Right Away

While every case is unique, they all share one similarity. To preserve evidence, it is important to act quickly! Memories fade with time, witnesses disappear, and vital records and reports are not properly handled without quick action. There is also a limited time to file your complaint.

A Happy Holidays After All?

Although Grandma is slowly recovering, she has received a large settlement and is planning a Spring vacation get-away with Grandpa.
